US May Finance France

Agree In Principle
To Give $570 Million
To Help Nation Have
Re-arming Program

BULLETIN
LISBON, Portugal, Feb. 22 (P)—The 14 Atlantic Allies formally endorsed today the creation of a European defense army including German soldiers. The vote was unanimous in a historic full dress North Atlantic council meeting.

By this action the council voted to bring 12 divisions from the West German republic into a six-nation army of two million men for defense of western Europe against possible Communist aggression.

LISBON, Portugal (P)—The United States agreed in principle today to give France an additional $70 million dollars in aid to help fulfill her re-arming program. In French money this is 200 billion francs.

The figure is not final but is one tentatively agreed upon, said an authoritative American source. He disclosed the decision just before the full North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) council met to give its blessing to the European army plan to bring 12 German divisions into a unified force.

France, in turn, will raise an additional sum estimated at 100 billion francs to close the gap between what her re-arming plans will cost and what her inflation-stricken economy can afford. A spokesman said most of the new U. S. assistance will be in the form of procurement contracts outside the United States. Arms, contributions to the infrastructure (supporting network of air bases and communications) and similar measures.

It will not be in the form of direct dollar aid because that would require special congressional authorization.

French premier Edgar Faure put in the request for additional aid in a conference with U. S. Secretary of the Treasury John W. Snyder yesterday.

U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson called in his senior advisors this morning to discuss the French request.

Faure told Snyder that if France met the arms targets set for her by W. Averell Harriman's economic committee, she must spend 1,450 billion francs ($4,100,000,000). He felt the French could raise only 1,190 billion francs ($3,400,000,000).

Informed sources said France must dig in and find another 20 billion francs to close the gap caused by the rising prices in her economy.

French sources said inflation has cost the proposed European army the equivalent of four divisions. Originally the French pledged 14 divisions to the one-uniform six-nation force.

At present French prices which would have paid for 14 divisions last year will pay for only 10 today. But the French said they would undertake to contribute 12 divisions anyway to make up half the divisional loss caused by inflation.

The divisional loss may not be reflected in actual manpower loss, the French said.

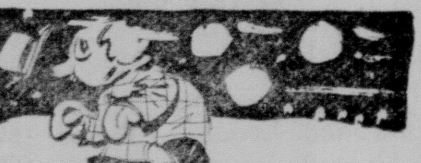

Meanwhile, finance and defense ministers made "substantial progress" in splitting up among the Allies the estimated 450 million dollars cost of building infrastructure — air bases, communication lines, depots and headquarters — across Western Europe.

In announcing that progress, a NATO spokesman said one representative from each of the 10 countries involved will meet later today to finally sort out the difficult problem.

The United States is expected to end up with between 30 and 40 per cent of the check.

The formality of approving the proposed European army — an estimated 2,000,000-man force of Germans, French, Dutch, Belgians, Italians and Luxembourgers — would come about 4 p. m. (11 a. m. CST), council sources said.

Troopers On Duty at Strike Bound Kentucky Coal Mines

UMW Sponsors First Strike In Area
To Get Last Two Counties' Miners
Into Union Fold; No Violence Yet

HYDEN, Ky., Feb. 22—(P)—Dozens of state troopers swarmed into this strikebound coal mining town as a precautionary measure today, when the United Mine Workers resumed their picketing at two nearby pits.

The mines, closed yesterday by the UMW's first strike in this last non-union stronghold in southeastern Kentucky's rich coal field, made no effort to operate today. Other Leslie county mines, unaffected by the strike, operated as usual.

State troopers cleared approach roads of all automobiles today and said they had been instructed to keep traffic moving. Pickets gathered along the roadsides. But no violence was reported.

Troopers Only Handle Traffic
Police Commissioner Guthrie Crowe said at Frankfort his men will confine their activities to traffic problems unless more help is requested by Sheriff George Wootton.

The UMW is seeking bargaining rights for the 60 men employed at each of the two mines, claiming a majority of them are members. The operators contend their men want to work.

Tom Raney, UMW international board member, asserted, "It looks like we've got them (the mine operators) over a barrel."

Clay Bishop, operator of one of the struck mines, declared, "a mob force came in to rule the county."

400 Pickets Into Area
Four hundred pickets invaded the mountain-ringed area yesterday, choking off production at the two pits, which employ about 60 men each.

They are bent on adding Leslie and Clay county mines to the UMW fold.

Mines in only the two counties of all the area have resisted successfully the UMW's organizing efforts. In 10 months of trying, the union hasn't signed a contract with any of the counties' 125 to 130 mines, most of them small operations employing a total of about 3,000 men. The UMW claims about 800 men in the two counties.

Doesn't Want Violence
Raney reiterated that he wanted no violence, but he added: "If they start trouble, I'll take 10,000 coal miners and go in there."

A mine superintendent, Estill Deaton, received two fractures of the jaw in yesterday's reported violence. Warrants were issued for the two UMW organizers charged with roughing him up.

Raney said the strike was not for a contract but for recognition. The miners will return to work the instant operators agree to discuss a contract, he added.

Operators gave no indication of surrendering.

Dynamite and other violence marked the organizing campaign, leading UMW boss John L. Lewis to protest that his organizers were victims of a "reign of terror."

Coal operators and county officials denied Lewis' complaint.

Phil R. Burford Gets $22,833 In Damage Suit

Phil R. Burford, 65, 1006 South Grand, a real estate agent in Sedalia, has been awarded $22,833 damages by a jury which heard his suit in the circuit court of Jackson county, Independence division, this week. The verdict was against the McVeigh and Co., Inc., Holden, Mo., seed and milling firm.

Burford suffered severe back injuries in an accident, Oct. 28, 1949, on U. S. highway 50, three miles east of Lone Jack, when his car and a motor vehicle of the McVeigh and Co., were in collision.

Burford's car was knocked from the highway into a field and he was thrown out of it. The other car was driven by Ira A. Bixby, Holden, an employee of the company.

The Chevrolet car of Burford was completely demolished.

Burford had asked $75,000 damages.

Fred F. Wesner, assisted by John C. McCloskey of Sedalia, represented Burford while the defendant was represented by the law firm of Morrison, Hecker, Buck, Cozard and Rogers.

The Chevrolet car of Burford "followed the entrance of the trucks into the compound as a normal guard to maintain order while United Nations personnel proceeded with individual interrogations in order to allow civilian internees in the compound complete privacy of expression."

The Evening Star had 144 pages yesterday, packed with Washington Birthday bargains. It was an all-time week day high for the paper, whose previous top was 120 pages, and one of the largest week day editions of any Washington paper.

Just how the birthday bargain number began isn't certain, but the reason for it is obvious: Most government workers have a holiday, giving them time to shop. It also enables merchants to clean out basements, attics and warehouses of stacked up merchandise for the year's biggest one-day sale.

Want a peek at a few more of the bargains? Look below the numerous pictures of George Washington beating drums, chopping prices with various kinds of axes or looking dignified amid sliced ham, pancakes and pickles, and you'll see. Radios, fans, percolators, toasters, waffle irons, sandwich grills—nine cents each while they last.

Reds Riot In Korean PW Camp

American Soldiers
Restore Calm, But
70 Dead and 165
Injured as Result

PUSAN, Korea (P)—Combat-hardened troops of the U. S. 27th Wolfhound Regiment smashed a Communist-led riot in a Korean civilian prison compound Monday. The fight left 70 dead and 165 injured.

American authorities said today 750 U. S. troops and 1,500 interned Koreans were involved. The fight lasted three hours.

Announced American casualties were one killed, one wounded and 22 injured slightly.

Most Aer Civilians
The other 69 dead and 142 injured were interned Korean civilians.

News of the riot in the Kojie Island stockade off South Korea was withheld four days.

U. S. authorities said the rioters attacked with a vicious array of homemade weapons—steel pickets, blackjacks, iron pipe, metal tent pole spikes, barbed wire flails, wooden clubs, rocks and knives.

A U. S. Eighth Army spokesman in Seoul said at least one flash of what appeared to be gunfire from the mob was reported, but no guns were found among the Reds.

Storm U. S. Guards
About 1,500 of the 5,000 Korean civilians in compound 82 on Kojie stormed in a screaming mob against the U. S. guards. Authorities said no Communist prisoners of war took part in the outbreak.

The Eighth Army said the riot was Communist planned and led. "Careful organization and planning were evident in the collection of weapons manufactured for this assault," the Army said.

A South Korean staff officer who accompanied Defense Minister Lee Ki Poong to Kojie after the outbreak gave this account:

The riot began with a bitter quarrel between Communist sympathizers in one compound and South Korean loyalists in another compound 100 yards away. The compounds were separated by two barbed-wire fences.

The Red sympathizers began shouting when South Korean personnel went into the second compound at 6 a. m. to screen internees for possible release.

Begin With Shouting
The Red sympathizers attacked when American guards tried to quiet them. The U. S. soldiers fired in self-defense.

Army spokesmen said there was no connection between the Kojie riot Monday and Communist-led anti-American riots in Japan Thursday. Scores of police were injured in Japan fighting mobs armed with clubs, rocks and tear gas.

Japanese rioters fought under the slogan "anti-colonization of Japan." The interned Korean civilians on Kojie rioted against the screening process separating Communists from prisoners with South Korean loyalties.

Kojie, 25 miles long and 15 miles wide, is southwest of Pusan. An estimated 116,000 Korean and Chinese prisoners of war and 54,000 Korean civilians are held there in compounds.

Authorities said order was restored by U. S. troops "only after control and the unrest has not spread to other compounds."

An unresponsive Stan Carter in Seoul said the Wolfhound Regiment was made up of experienced soldiers. It had an excellent combat record. Such guards would not be trigger happy, he said.

Names of the American casualties were withheld.

The Army said the outbreak "followed the entrance of the trucks into the compound as a normal guard to maintain order while United Nations personnel proceeded with individual interrogations in order to allow civilian internees in the compound complete privacy of expression."

Steel Strike Put Off, May Start Later

Possibility Holds
For Contract Stall
Sunday, March 23

PITTSBURGH (P)—The nation will escape a steel strike Saturday but a walkout may come March 23 unless a bitter contract controversy is settled.

Top strategy makers of the million member CIO United Steelworkers did not expect yesterday in postponing their strike. They issued this warning, however:

"We hope that a strike may be averted but the patience of our members is running out."

The union decided to cancel its week end strike threat to give the Wage Stabilization Board more time to recommend a settlement.

The union headed by Philip Murray, also president of the CIO, has been working without a contract since Jan. 1.

The U. S. Wage Policy Committee, in unanimously adopting a resolution of the executive board to set back the strike date 29 days, made it clear it expects the final settlement will be fully retroactive to the contract expiration date.

The Wage Policy Committee added:

"We call upon the Wage Stabilization Board promptly to make its recommendation for fair and equitable terms of settlement of this dispute and to enable the board to do this we extend the present postponement of our strike until midnight, March 23, 1952."

"And we authorize President (Philip) Murray to call a strike in the steel industry at any time after midnight, March 23, 1952, in the event a fair basis for an equitable settlement of the dispute is not forthcoming by that date."

The union and the steel companies recently concluded presenting their cases to a WSB panel. The panel is not expected to give its findings to the full WSB for a week or 10 days.

The WSB's recommendation is not binding. However, such recommendations usually help form public opinion which often brings pressure on both sides. Top government officials have said repeatedly a steel strike during the defense emergency is unthinkable.

The WSB entered the dispute after the union and industry reached a deadlock on the union's request for an 18 1/2 cent hourly pay boost and other demands for the men who now average from $1.92 to $1.97 an hour.

Among other things, Murray is insisting on a guaranteed annual wage, union shop, improved premium pay and other benefits.

Some industry spokesmen have contended the demands would cost up to 60 cents an hour per man.

Shortly after the union's action, Irving Olds, chairman of the board of U. S. Steel Corp., declared the "crucial question" in the steel industry wage discussions "is how many more disastrous rounds of inflation this country has the capacity to withstand."

In a speech at Salt Lake City, Olds declared if the USW's demands were granted in their entirety they would "put the entire steel industry into the red and head it down the road to bankruptcy and nationalization."

Murray told a news conference that although the Wage Policy Committee voted unanimously to cancel the strike the proposal "met with considerable opposition."

The veteran labor leader declared the union now has met requirements of the Taft-Hartley Labor Act by delaying its strike deadline more than 80 days from contract expiration. Under the Taft-Hartley Act, the President can seek a court injunction to forbid strikes for 80 days. The strike originally could have begun Jan. 31.

The Wage Policy Committee summed up the union's stand by reaffirming this resolution of a recent special convention at Atlantic City:

"We are not foregoing our right to strike. This we will not do in the absence of satisfactory agreements."

Redden Tells Of Aiding Firm That Got Loan

Representative Says
He And Brother Were
Merely the Brokers

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22—(P)—Rep. Redden (D-N.C.) said today that a company which subsequently received a $460,000 RFC loan agreed to pay him and his brother $25,000 each as a brokerage fee for the sale of a quick-freeze plant in Hendersonville, N. C.

Redden issued a statement on his connection with the transaction after disclosure that the company went into receivership, after receiving the loan, and the case had been turned over to the Justice Department.

While he has not received the full fee agreed on for having arranged for the sale, Redden told newsmen, he expects to receive it. He said the fee arrangement was made prior to the company's application for a reconstruction finance corporation loan and at a time when there was no thought of seeking such a loan from the government agency.

Earlier today, RFC general counsel Solis Horwitz said the RFC asked the Justice Department to check on the loan after W. Stuart Symington took over as cleanup boss of the agency last May.

Horwitz told a reporter he could not recall details of the loan but said "there were some problems involved. It is always suspicious when a company goes into receivership shortly after it gets a loan." He said the loan was to Skybrook Farms (CQ) of Hendersonville, the name of the plant following the sale.

Redden said of the money he and his brother were to get:

"It was strictly a brokerage fee for having arranged the sale on good terms. It was not an attorney fee. Everybody interested knew about it and I presume the RFC knew about it later when the loan application was made."

He said he learned in the summer of 1949 that the Skyland processing Corporation, which operated the plant in Hendersonville, wanted to sell its property. He said he discussed sale terms on several occasions with Ivor Pardee, president of the company.

The asking price at the time of the talks, he said, was $700,000, or about $300,000 less than the owners had invested in it.

Rep. Redden said he learned through his brother, Arthur J. Redden, a Hendersonville attorney that Harry R. Playford, operator of a dairy farm, was interested in buying the processing plant.

Towing Tanker To Port

Stern Half of Ship
Ripped by Storm
Has 13 Men Still
Aboard; Nears Land

BOSTON, Feb. 22—(P)—The stern half of the severed tanker Fort Mercer with 13 seamen aboard early today rounded No Man's Land at the western tip of Martha's Vineyard and headed for Narragansett bay under tow of two tugboats.

The coast guard cutter Spar, accompanying the procession, reported in an early morning message to coast guard headquarters that the towing was proceeding "satisfactorily" at four and a half knots an hour.

The half-ship had its propeller working to assist in the progress. The weather bureau reported it was snowing with a northeast wind of about 25 miles an hour at the scene.

No Danger Expected
Coast guard officers said, however, the Fort Mercer was in no danger because it has long been in the lee of the land.

Two barges left New York last night to rendezvous sometime today with the Fort Mercer off Newport, R. I. Present plans call for the barges to relieve the Fort Mercer stern of most of its cargo of two million gallons of oil.

The Fort Mercer was one of two tankers to break in two in a howling northeast off Chatham, Mass. last Monday. The other was the Pendleton.

6 Dead, 8 Missing
Of the 84 men aboard both tankers, six are known to be dead, eight are missing and presumed dead and 57 rescued by daring coast guardsmen.

Five of the dead were from the Mercer and one from the Pendleton. The eight men presumed dead were swept from the bow of the Pendleton, both of whose halves later went aground.

Meanwhile, a coast guard board of inquiry, heard testimony from a Fort Mercer crewman that he was "pushed away" when he tried to tell the captain that the tanker was in danger.

Julio Molina of San Juan, Puerto Rico, testified yesterday that when he went to the bridge to report a plate had dropped off the side of the vessel — hours before it split in two — he was told it was "none of my business" and was washed away.

Denies Report Ignored
The ship's captain F. C. C. Paetz of Houston, Texas, who was hospitalized with pneumonia and frozen feet in Portland, Me., denied he rebuffed Molina.

He told newsmen: "As a matter of fact, I don't even remember him coming to me."

Capt. Paetz added the vessel's third mate reported a plate had fallen away and the coast guard was notified immediately.

Another crewman, C. W. Hindley of Houston, Tex., who was on the Fort Mercer's stern with 33 shipmates, testified that although there were four licensed officers in that section, "not one could send or receive a single letter of the (signal) code."

He said also flares aboard the Fort Mercer were ineffective. Similar testimony was given the day before by crewmen of the Pendleton.

The inquiry on the Fort Mercer will resume Monday.

Slave Labor Camp Details Out 1st Time

Red Paper Declares
Prisoners Being
Reformed by Work

HONG KONG (P)—Conditions in Chinese Communist slave labor camps have been bare—by a Red newspaper brought to this British crown colony.

The peek through the Bamboo Curtain is a copy of the Kwangsi Jik Pao, from Nanning, reporting on one of the camps in which millions of political prisoners are held.

These are Chinese caught in the great purge. Instead of being executed they were set to work on railroads, highways, dikes, airfields, fortifications and in state industries. Many of the prisoners are under a death sentence, suspended for two years.

The newspaper describes them as citizens "being reformed by labor." Kwangsi Jik Pao provides enough details to indicate a dire punishment for even the smallest infractions. The paper reported:

"The prisoners—called 'culprits'—are divided into work groups of 25 to 30 persons. Each group is under a squad of the Labor Reform Corps of the security (secret) police."

To force the prisoners in work speed-ups and to discourage any escape attempts, the camp officials conduct evening accusation meetings at which "treacherous deeds are exposed." The article continued:

"It is vital to mobilize the culprits to criticize and supervise each other. Chiang Yao-pin said he was sick and could carry only 30 catties (about 67 pounds). Other culprits criticized him by saying, 'You used to eat three bowls of rice. Where is your strength? Ten years of reform cannot do you any good.'"

"Under this reasonable judgment of the masses, Chiang now carries 70 catties."

The newspaper said "a culprit of the 16th Squad of the First Labor Reform Corps" stool-pied on other prisoners who had obtained firearms for an attempted escape.

The article grimly omitted what happened to the prisoners, but said the informer—"an ex-landlord"—told camp officials: "I truly should thank the Communist government for its generosity and education."

Prisoners are promised shortened sentences by showing "extra zeal and cooperation."

"Culprits of the 16th Squad did well in studies (indoctrination schools) and in work and have been eulogized (given merits)," the article added. "Those who were too cunning must carry mud during breaks (rest periods)."

"Thus the phenomena of impatience, chaos, pessimism and laziness, by the culprit has been basically changed and efficiency increased." A brick kiln which used to be built in 2,000 hours now is built in 1,200. Culprits that used to make 10,000 bricks a day now make 17,000.

The Show Must Go On

There is a tradition among actors and actresses that the show must go on, no matter what. Show people must go before the footlights and strut their parts, even with a breaking heart. They must laugh and smile even when their minds are tortured by new and sudden catastrophes.

An old song says: "There's no people like show people; they smile when they are blue." No headache or pain, no worry or fear can keep a real trooper from putting on a bright smile when the curtain rises and the play begins.

Anyone who calls himself a Christian and wants to play his part in life may well take a useful lesson from the folks of the theater.

Who hasn't heard people complain of those "off days" when everything seems to go wrong, when there doesn't seem to be a single bright spot in the sky? After the daily stint at the office or in school, these people admit, they go home feeling just as mean and "ornery" as they think everyone else has been.

Such people lack the real Christian spirit. "The fear of the Lord," says Ecclesiastes, "is honor and glory and gladness and a crown of joy." To be a good trooper—a real, honest-to-goodness Christian—means simply using enough self-control so that other people won't have to suffer because we happen to be out of sorts once in a while.

This would be a happier and more blessed world if people would learn to mask with a smile the little bothers and worries that are part of every life. Everybody knows that griping patients are the bane of a doctor's or nurse's life. Homes are always places of misery when some member of the family stages a tantrum. When the boss lets his impatience or irritation get the better of him, the office becomes a place of tension and the staff goes home with frayed and ragged nerves.

One should never let petty pride or exaggerated self-esteem inflate little difficulties into major tragedies. A rude waiter should not make anyone ruin his own or someone else's afternoon or evening. When children get noisy, a raucous rebuke will only add to the general turmoil. Patient and self-restraint are both the badge and armor of the Christian trooper.

March 5, 6, and 7. Rev. Arthur Hampton of Milan, Mo., will be the guest preacher.

Men Whom Jesus Chose
By William E. Gilroy, D. D.
"Ye have not chosen Me," said Jesus to the chosen few of His disciples (John 15:16), "but I have chosen you, and ordained you, that ye should go and bring forth fruit."

The choice was marked by the fact that not all who were willing to follow Jesus were allowed to enter that select circle of the Twelve.

To one at least who declared that he would follow Jesus wherever He went, the Master gave the more difficult mission of going back home.

Of those who did accept the choice when it fell upon them we know comparatively little, except of a few whom the Gospel narratives speak.

Judas we know as a betrayer. Thomas, (John 14), has a somewhat unenviable reputation as a questioner and doubter, though his questioning brought forth a specific addition to what Jesus had said concerning immortality and the many mansions.

There is a reference, also, to a Judas (not Iscariot), who unlike his traitorous namesake appears to have been faithful unto the end. This Judas was also known as Lebbeus (Matthew 10:2) and as Thaddaeus (Mark 3:18).

In every group of men, however, there are almost always some, who by their energy, ambition, force of character, or some strength of personality, stand out rather prominently from the rest.

Among the Twelve such outstanding ones were Peter and the brothers, James and John. Of Andrew, Peter's brother, we have no impressive picture, except that it was he who introduced his vigorous brother to the Master (John 1) and he seems to have shared a special place with his brother (Mark 13:3).

There is a particularly human touch concerning the relation of Jesus to the Twelve, and especially to the three outstanding disciples, in the names or nicknames that Jesus bestowed upon them.

The impulsive Simon, ready for anything (Mark 14:29), He called "Peter," meaning "rock," perhaps in ironic allusion to the actual weakness which led Peter to deny Him.

It was also a prophecy of the rock-like qualities that Peter was to develop as he fulfilled the Master's prayer that his faith should not fail, in spite of all the Devil's efforts to sift and destroy him (Luke 22:31).

Playful, but also prophetic, was the name that Jesus gave to those ambitious brothers who were sons of a determined and forceful mother (Matthew 20:20). He called them "Boanerges, the Sons of Thunder," in reference to their fiery passion. They, too, justified the name, not as privileged persons in an earthly kingdom, but as men of supreme love and devotion in the spiritual kingdom that they discovered was the Master's mission to establish.

There was thunder, if of a different sort, in the power with which John was to declare the supreme strength and beauty of love. "We know that we have passed from death unto life because we love the brethren." (I John 3:14).

Betty Ann Kline Valentine Queen At Teen Town

Miss Betty Ann Kline was crowned valentine queen at the annual valentine party held at Teen Town Saturday, Feb. 16, from 7 until 11 p.m. Miss Kline and her escort, Paul Rialti, were crowned by Robert Morgan. Her attendant was Dolores Gorsett.

Approximately 150 teen-age youths enjoyed the party with games, visiting and dancing to the fine music of the Teen Town band.

Mrs. Henry Menefee, chairman, and board members, Mrs. Lee Johnson and Mrs. Fred Brummett, were in charge of the party, assisted by the junior Teen Town board and adult chaperones, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Keating, Mr. and Mrs. Blue Young, Harry Walsh, Julius Stohr and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Kline.

The Teen Town youths are now making plans for their next party commemorating St. Patrick's day, which will be highlighted by the crowning of a king.

Teen Town is made possible through the participation in the Community Chest fund and by over ten years of planning and work of both senior and junior members of Teen Town organization. Those who pioneered in the organization can now take satisfaction that their efforts in the sacrifice of time and work and other contributions have resulted in success. The youth organization has progressed to where it is now outstanding in this community. Advice and information is constantly sought by surrounding towns as to how Sedalia's Teen Town is operated. The building presents a pleasant surrounding as the furniture, equipment and interior decorations are in good condition.

Teen Town has a very fine number of chaperones who serve free and assist the supervisors with operations of its program. Teen Town is open each Friday night from 7 until 11 p.m. This is known as eighth grade night, but others are also invited. Saturday Teen Town has the same hours and is open to all age groups above eighth grade. Besides these regular nights, for other occasions Teen Town is made available for the youths on receipt of a request which the board deems to be proper. Occasionally it is open after basketball and football games.

Board members urge parents to visit Teen Town to see for themselves just how their children are entertained and to further acquaint themselves on the operations of this youth movement and also to share in the service that is required for the successful operation.

The present officers of this organization are: senior board: Tom Keating, president; Blue Young, vice-president; Mrs. J. F. Schumacher, treasurer; Mrs. Herbert Schulz, secretary; board members and committees on which they serve are: public relations committee, Jack Cunningham, Harry Walsh and Mrs. Herbert Schulz; program committee, Mrs. Henry Menefee, Mrs. Lee Johnson and Mrs. Fred Brummett; building and equipment committee, Julius Stohr, Blue Young, J. F. Schumacher and Bert Hathaway; finance committee, Mrs. Lester Dunn, George Lockett and Harold Seaberg; auditing committee, Arthur Morgan; hostess committee, Mrs. Richard Gray, Mrs. Roy Kline and Mrs. Frances Dent; Junior Teen Town board members: Dolores Gorsett, president; Connie Overfelt, Ruth Ann Zulauf, Paul Rialti, Mary E. Bopp, Cappy Bopp, Donald Stohr and Robert Morgan.

George Thompson is the very efficient supervisor and for this work he is paid; also the custodian is a paid worker. All other operating personnel is donated without cost.

But Washington's crowning hour of glory was to come in May with the announcement of the French and Spanish Alliance. Cannons fired a salute. And for the first time the entire Army drilled together. The men who had staggered into camp on a dark and snowy December night, leaving a trail of blood and defeat behind them, marched with the alert, springy steps that were to carry them to victory. An Army had been born. A month later, with their triumphant march to Philadelphia, the last words of a glorious chapter in American history had been written—one which may still inspire whenever the path of history seems to darken.

Package Proposals Refused

Both Sides Say No To Other's Deal On Troop Rotation At Truce Meeting

MUNSAN, Korea (AP)—Allied and Communist truce negotiators offered each other compromise package deals on troop rotation and ports of entry today.

Each side said "No!"

But their differences were narrowed to only one port of entry and 5,000 men in the monthly rotation ceiling. Originally the difference was nine ports of entry and 70,000 men.

Once again the U.N. rejected the Reds' nomination of Soviet Russia as a member of the neutral inspection commission.

Repercussions of the Communist-led riot which left 69 Koreans dead and 142 wounded in an Allied compound for civilian prisoners were expected in the truce talks on prisoner exchange.

Reds To Use Riot as Lever

Observers said Red delegates probably would try to use the Kojia Island incident as a lever to get their own way in the delicate negotiations for exchanging prisoners and displaced civilians.

Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, chief Allied negotiator, refused to speculate on what propaganda use the Reds may make of the bloody riot.

Staff officers have been making slow but steady progress on a prisoner exchange plan, but are deadlocked on the key issue of voluntary repatriation.

Communists Insist On Full Repatriation

The Communists have insisted that all prisoners in Allied hands be repatriated regardless of their wishes and have protested U.N. reclassification of about 37,500 as South Koreans.

The U.S. Eighth Army indicated the segregation of reclassified prisoners in the Kojia compound was responsible for the riot.

Communist staff officers Friday offered to permit inspection at five rather than four ports of entry on each side if the Allies would cut the monthly rotation ceiling to 30,000 men.

The Allies countered with an offer to open six rather than seven ports of entry to inspection if the Reds would permit rotation of 35,000 men a month.

Observers said the gap on both issues has been narrowed to a point where eventual agreement appears certain.

Not Discussing Biggest Issue

The staff officers aren't even discussing the biggest stumbling block—whether the Reds may build and repair military airfields during an armistice.

Col. Don Darrow told the Reds again that Russia could not serve on the neutral inspection commission. He repeated that the acceptability or non-acceptability of neutral nations was not debatable.

Chinese Col. Pu San said Allied reasons for rejecting Russia were "absurd, unworthy of refutation." He referred to Darrow's statement Thursday that no nation in "close proximity" with Korea or with "a record of past participation in Panmunjom."

Russian troops did not enter Korea until after V-J Day.

Staff officer groups will meet again at 11 a. m. Saturday (9 p. m. Friday EST) in Panmunjom.

Powder Puff Court In Ottawa To Deal 'Leap Year Justice'

OTTAWA, Ill., Feb. 22.—(AP)—Ottawa men, married or single, will get fined in a powder puff justice court Feb. 29 — Leap Year Day — if they are found guilty of any of these offenses:

1. Failing to agree with the judgment of a woman.

2. Arguing with a woman.

3. Planning to leave town Feb. 29 (and getting caught in advance).

4. Making unkind remarks about woman drivers.

5. Complaining about getting a summons to the powder puff court.

6. Allowing their sons to remain single.

Members of the Ottawa junior women's club are mailing summonses to Ottawa's males. The summonses are lively looking with red hearts and flowery sentiments — but they are stern. The only way the males can avoid their court appearance is to mail in a fine in advance.

Ottawa's women will take over various public offices for the day, including the city council, police and fire departments, and justice courts.

The Leap Year Day was planned by the Ottawa Junior Women's club to raise funds for a new building.

Cop Stretches, Stops Car For Other Officer

OMAHA (AP)—Police Sgt. Harry Fielding was feeling cramped from sitting in a cruiser car yesterday. So he got out to stretch.

As he raised his arms, a passing motorist thought he was being signalled to stop—and he did.

Only when another car of police rolled up did Fielding learn he had flagged down a motorist being pursued by the officers.

Police booked the motorist for speeding, reckless driving and operating an unsafe vehicle.

Workmen Rake Ashes Seeking Missing Man

NEW YORK, Feb. 22.—(AP)—Workmen raked through ashes today for a trace of a fellow employee believed to have fallen into a sanitation department incinerator.

The missing man is Frank Carrozza, 45. He failed to check out at the end of the 8 a. m. shift.

Carrozza's job was to feed waste into a flaming open pit. Regulations require wearing a belt attached by chain to a nearby wall. Officials said workmen sometimes failed to observe the safety regulation.

Survivors of Freighter Live 'High on Hog' On Half a Ship

ABOARD HALF OF SS PORT MERCER, OFF NEWPORT, R. I., Feb. 22.—(AP)—Thirteen merchant sailors who elected to ride out a storm—Kurt Carlson fashion—arrived today on the end of a tow line aboard the stern section of the tanker Port Mercer.

They scoffed at the superstition sometimes attached to their number.

The tanker broke in half Monday off Cape Cod, Mass., in the winter's worst storm.

Some of the crew of 43 drifted away on the bow section before the gale.

Thirty-four were on the stern. Twenty-one were rescued. Five were lost and the others saved were taken from the bow.

A crew of three Associated Press staff members—photographer Frank Curtin and J. Walter Green and this writer—boarded the shattered stern today well off Brenton Reef lightship which guards the harbor entrance.

They were the first strangers to tread her slippery decks since the disaster.

Captain Bill Champion, in his sturdy diesel craft bearing his name, located the stern of the Port Mercer shortly after dawn and put up aboard while the tow was traveling at a brisk pace.

The first crewmen encountered was Alphonse Chauvin, 72, of New York.

Middleton's Minutemen Back To Jobs After Nabbing Bandit

MIDDLETON, Tenn. (AP)—Angry "minutemen" who sprang to arms to cut down a fleeing bandit loaded with the bank's greenbacks were back at peaceful pursuits today.

Money that went out of the Bank of Middleton in the gunman's pockets was back in the vault, or in police hands. Bank officials wouldn't say how much was involved.

The gunman, Robert H. Bondurant, 36, was flat on his back in a Memphis hospital bed with a bullet through his stomach and he was in "fair" condition.

The slender bandit left the bank pushing two reluctant hostages in front of him yesterday and ran into a nightmare of bullets, buckshot and barricades.

Almost everybody that owned a gun in this little southwest Tennessee town of about 400 gathered outside the bank while the robbery was in progress.

It was the second attempted holdup within a month — the fourth since 1946. Otis Bissel readily recognized the scene when he glanced into the bank. He spread the alarm.

The gun battle saw a fearful amount of lead hurled, but casualties were amazingly light. One of the hostages, T. L. Madden of Memphis, was slightly wounded by shotgun pellets.

A. I. Means, agent in charge of the Memphis FBI, said Bondurant jumped into Madden's car in Memphis and forced him to drive to Middleton and enter the bank.

Bondurant, an ex-convict from Memphis, was charged with bank robbery, a federal offense. Officers said he also was held for the state on charges of kidnaping, carrying first aid truck for the city fire department.

At first it was planned to stick only the bachelors, a time honored tradition of the day. But many bachelors decided to take it on the lam. Then the program was revised to include all males.

Among the eligible bachelors is Phil Bailey, mayor of Ottawa which has a population of some 16,000 and is about 60 miles southwest of Chicago.

NPA Revising Plan For Use of Copper, Steel in New Homes

WASHINGTON (AP)—The National Production Authority is revising its proposed new regulation on use of steel and copper in house building.

An NPA spokesman said today one change cuts the amount of copper which can be used in a dwelling with copper plumbing from 160 to 135 pounds.

Another change restores to the order the present rule a home builder can "self authorize" his purchases of materials for remodeling up to 50 per cent of the steel and copper which may be "self authorized" for a new dwelling.

A cut to 25 per cent had been proposed.

The self-authorizing device means the builder need not apply to NPA for allotments of material within certain quantity limits. He may merely note on his purchase order that the quantity he needs may be delivered under NPA regulations.

Still another change in the order eliminates the prohibition against more than one and one-half bath.

Nuns Hope to Set New Record as Blood Donors

NEW YORK (AP)—Catholic nuns in this area aimed today to set a new record for one-day group blood donations.

About 1,100 of them were scheduled to give a pint each by the end of the day. The donations were being made at a Red Cross mobile unit set up at St. Vincent's hospital.

Previous one-day mass blood donation was by 735 crew members of the Navy aircraft carrier Oriskany.

Tunesian Legionists Kill French Legionnaire

TUNIS, Tunisia (AP)—A French foreign legionnaire was killed last night while on patrol with the legion in Kef, 60 miles southwest of Tunis.

He was hit by bullets fired on the patrol by Tunisian Legionists, French officials said.

The Foreign Legion along with other French troops has been accused by Tunisian officials of rape, murder and large scale brutality throughout this North African country torn by riots and sabotage since early in January.

4 Die in Plane Crash On Famed King Ranch

KINGSVILLE, Tex., Feb. 22.—(AP)—A twin-engined navy plane crashed on the King ranch early today, killing four of the six persons on board.

The JRB Beechcraft plane had just taken off from the naval auxiliary training station here on a routine training flight. The crash occurred about one and one-half miles southeast on the big cattle ranch.

The navy gave no indication as to the extent of the injuries to the two survivors. The plane was attached to air station.

The navy said it would release the names of the injured and possibly those killed later today.

Janitor Cleans-up, Valuable Records Found

ST. JOSEPH, Mich. (AP)—The janitor at the Berrien County Courthouse looked over the basement and decided it needed cleaning up. So he gathered up a lot of papers and had a junk dealer cart them away. That was Wednesday.

Court officials were horrified yesterday to find a lot of valuable records gone. They caught up with the dealer just in time to recover the records, some dating back to 1831.

The records had been baled up for shipment to a Kalamazoo pulp mill.

Allies Beat Off Commie Boat Invasion

SEOUL, Korea — (AP) — South Korean Marines beat off a Communist amphibious invasion of an Allied-held island off the north-east coast of Korea in a 33-hour battle, the Allies announced today.

The Korean army said its marines sank 13 of the 20 invasion boats.

Seventy invaders were reported killed and six captured. Prisoners included the commander of the amphibious attack.

Nine South Korean marines were killed and six wounded, the navy said.

The assault was made by a Red battalion—about 800 or 1,000 men. It was not indicated whether they were Chinese or North Koreans.

The battle began about 1 a. m. Wednesday and lasted until 10 a. m. Thursday when the last of the attackers fled back to the Red mainland in their remaining boats.

The assault was directed against Yank Island, about 16 air miles from the Communist east coast port of Songjin.

Yank is believed to be the northernmost island held by the Allies. It lies midway between the 40th and 41st Parallel and serves as a lookout post off the Red coast.

The island presumably is one that the Allies would give back to the Communists if an armistice is signed.

Republic of Korea ROK marines have occupied the island since last summer.

Capt. Choi Chung Song, commander of the ROK garrison on Yank, said captured equipment included three rocket guns, a wireless set, 75 Russian-made submachine guns, light machine guns and rifles.

Planes from the U. S. carrier Essex swept into the Songjin area Thursday, smashing every Red boat in sight. The navy said American airmen sank one Red supply boat and 25 sampans. Another 25 sampans were damaged.

On the opposite coast the heavy cruiser Rochester plowed through strewn waters of the Yellow Sea and bombarded a communications center between Pyongyang, the Red Korean capital, and its port city, Chinnampo. Her eight-inch guns blew up 12 buildings and set off two explosions in Red supply dumps.

The battleship Wisconsin turned her 16-inch guns on the eastern end of the snow-swept 155-mile coastline.

Heaviest fighting in recent days has been in the valleys between eastern mountains. Thursday Allied troops called on helicopters to pull them out of a Red trap in the east. North Koreans withdrew pinned down the Allies, withdrew over the snow-covered ground under the hammering of Allied artillery and reinforcements.

The U. S. Eighth army reported no fighting Friday except brief clashes between small groups.

Morris Will Get Chance To Testify On Ships

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22 — (AP) — Members of the Senate investigations sub-committee said today corruption sleuth Newbold Morris will get the chance he asked to explain his role in highly profitable ship deals.

Morris, the New York Republican named by President Truman to head a housecleaning of tax scandals and wrongdoing in the government, has been mentioned frequently in the subcommittee's investigations.

Morris said Wednesday night his personal role in the ship deals was minor and proper, and that he objects to "innuendoes" about him.

"I wish they'd summon me instead of talking about it," he added. "I'll be glad to testify."

Arnall Takes Oath As US Price Boss

ATLANTA (AP)—Chubby, energetic Ellis Arnall was sworn in yesterday as the nation's price boss.

The 44-year-old former Georgia governor, prominent in the "brass knucks" fight on inflation when he took the oath as head of the Office of Price Stabilization.

President Truman appointed him to succeed chubby, energetic Michael V. DiSalle, who resigned to run for the United States Senate in Ohio.

Arnall conceded that some of his forthcoming decisions as price stabilizer would not always be popular, and added: "I'm hoping for the best but fearing the worst."

Bob Thomas In Hollywood—All Patients Same to Doc For Stars, et al, at MGM

By Bob Thomas
HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — It could be Lana Turner's hangnail or the sprained ankle of a janitor. All patients are the same to Dr. Helen Jones.

Dr. Jones is the studio physician at MGM and she is perhaps the only person on the lot who doesn't observe the star system.

"Each patient gets the same kind of care from me," she remarked. "When I took the job, I didn't expect to last six weeks. I liked to go to the movies sometimes, but show business and its stars meant nothing to me. I saw no reason why I should treat any patient differently, just because he was a movie star."

Dr. Jones has surprised herself by lasting 15 years at the studio, but she claimed she still doesn't know if her job will last. She recalled her first "name" patient on the lot. He was a well-known comedian who had scratched his shoulder in a bathing scene.

"He was admiring himself in the hospital mirror," she remembered. "I had to remind him that I was the one to do the examining, not that mirror painted over, because of the actor patients."

I inquired if actors had any occupational diseases, such as hangovers and ulcers. She sidestepped the hangover issue with professional ease, but added that actors normally don't have ulcers.

"The writers, producers and directors have ulcers, but actors do not," she explained. "Ulcers happen to people who repress their emotions, and actors are emotional people. Their entire training has been to give vent to their emotions."

"It is entirely the opposite with doctors. Our whole training is to hide our emotions. Often we may be disturbed about a patient or even frightened. We cannot let the patient know about our feelings. For that reason, the rate of ulcers and heart conditions is high among doctors."

The studio hospital is primarily designed to care for industrial accidents, but any illness which occurs on the lot is cared for.

This may include nervousness on the part of the actors, to whom mild sedatives would be administered. Star accidents are not frequent, since doubles are used for the dangerous stuff. But mishaps do happen. Latest of these was by Esther Williams. "Nothing serious," Dr. Jones reported.

Dr. Jones recently performed a dual function, adding to her regular duties the technical advising on "The Girl in White." In the picture, June Allyson plays the role of Dr. Emily Dunning Barringer, New York's first woman ambulance surgeon. The story tells of the difficulties she had in getting into the medical profession.

"It still isn't easy for a woman to become a doctor," Dr. Jones added. "A lot of medical schools do not want to admit women because they might have to drop out if they marry and become pregnant. That is reasonable, since the schools have more applicants than they can handle."

"Another fear is that women doctors would be romantically inclined toward their male colleagues or else would be antagonistic. But I think any girl who has been raised with brothers learns how to work with men."

"Then there are the beliefs that women would be too sympathetic with patients and would try to get out of doing the heavy work by doing internships. It's true there are many women who would. But there are also many women who would not."

See Taft Gaining And Ike Losing Due to Silence

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Sen. Hendrickson R-NJ said today he believes Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio is gaining and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower is "slipping" in the Republican presidential nomination race.

Hendrickson, one of the Senate's Republican insurgents who often buck Taft's leadership, told this reporter that personal visits, telephone calls and letters have convinced him there is sharply growing sentiment for the Ohioan in New Jersey.

"Taft is gaining and Eisenhower is slipping in New Jersey and it seems to me that is true all over the country," Hendrickson said.

"People want Eisenhower to say how he stands on the issues and his continued silence is hurting him. The whole thing is disappointing to me because I have always believed in the theory that the office should seek the man. It doesn't seem to work that way."

Gambling for Religious Purposes As Wrong As Commercialized Type

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 22 — (AP) — Gambling promoted for religious or charitable purposes is just as much against the law as commercialized gambling, Circuit Judge Francis E. Williams said yesterday.

The judge centered his attack on the St. Louis County Carnival Code—an agreement among members of the County Peace Officers Association on the type of church and charity lotteries and carnivals to be permitted.

"The underworld cannot be adequately reformed until the upperworld is able to reform itself," Williams said. He gave his opinion at the request of the St. Louis Better Business Bureau.

Police Seek Key Man In 3 Kansas City Suits

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 22 — (AP) — Police were searching today for Ernest Marvin Baldwin, 33, a key witness in three pending circuit court cases involving charges of subordination of perjury.

Baldwin has been missing from his home here since Tuesday noon. His wife yesterday asked police assistance in locating him.

Henry H. Fox, Jr., Jackson county prosecutor, said Baldwin was one of the state's principal witnesses against three former associates of Alfred H. Osborne, a former lawyer.

Charged with subordination of perjury were Robert B. Simpson and Winston E. Keim, former attorneys once associated with Osborne, and Raymond J. McGuire, Jr., a former investigator for Osborne.

Government Studies New Way For Employees to Get Hikes

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The government is studying still another way of allowing employers to give workers higher wages.

The labor experts call it a productivity allowance, or an annual improvement factor.

The idea, as urged by labor unions, is that workers should get a specific share of the steadily improving production output of American industry.

Industry members of the Wage Stabilization Board (WSB) the agency now discussing the matter, have said that a productivity allowance may be all right in some particular industry. But they oppose any blanket sanction for all employers and unions.

The whole notion got the blessing of President Truman in his economic report to Congress last month in which he said:

"Wage adjustments to allow for increases in productivity, if carefully limited and firmly administered, can provide incentives which outweigh any possible inflationary effect."

This, together with published views of the President's council of economic advisers, suggests an administration belief that if workers are given a bonus for greater production, it will spur them on to even greater efforts.

This, of course, might or might not happen. Government statistics indicate an upward productivity, or efficiency, improvement in the neighborhood of 2 or 3 per cent a year. This is the average for American industry generally. Effort put by workers into production is only one of the many possible explanations for this increase. Another is better machinery and methods. And still another is better management and direction of labor.

The application of the productivity principle is what worries business most. The unions want WSB to allow all employers to raise wages by 3 per cent — as that's the approximate average for all industry.

The labor groups say they not only want to keep up with the

Mt. Vernon More Like It Was When Geo. Lived There

WASHINGTON (AP)—The 220th anniversary of George Washington's birth finds his famous 18th century homestead more than ever like it was when he and Martha Washington lived there.

Reconstruction of General Washington's greenhouse, a major project in the restoration of Mount Vernon, has just been completed. Another restoration project, re-decoration of the banquet hall, is nearing completion.

The original greenhouse, last of the major units which constituted Mount Vernon at its highest state of development, was the only major structure that failed to survive until the Mount Vernon Ladies Association acquired the property in 1858. It was destroyed by fire in 1835.

Evidence for the present reconstruction, largely obtained from the correspondence of General Washington. Sufficient data for an authentic reproduction was gathered by the late 1930's but World War II forced postponement of the reconstruction.

The Mount Vernon Ladies Association is beginning its 94th year as a custodian of the most famous home in the Western hemisphere. The Association pursues month by month and piece by piece a perpetual program of restoration.

Should the mansion ever be destroyed, it would be possible to reproduce the celebrated home for future generations of Americans. Large scale measured drawings are available which include even the intricate designs of the ornamental plaster ceilings.

Bank Shows Profit Of $1.80 In Holdup

MIDDLETON, Tenn. (AP) — The Bank of Middleton came out of its holdup yesterday with $1.80 profit.

Money was tossed about freely as irate citizens wounded and captured the gunman, Robert H. Bonduant.

Citizens, bystanders, hostages, officers and bank employees gathered it all up and turned it over to bank President H. G. Simpson.

Simpson wouldn't say how much was stolen, but he said he got it all back plus $1.80. Nobody knows where the extra money came from.

In an insurance agency, or a shoe shine parlor.

Chairman Nathan P. Feinsinger of the WSB discussed this with businessmen in New York a few weeks ago. He said some experts doubted that productivity of more than a fourth of all American workers could be measured at all.

Small Crowd Enjoys Bouts At Mat Show

Always when a small crowd attends the wrestling matches, it seems the best shows develop. Thursday night was no exception when the wrestlers went wild, the fans went wild, and the sponsors went wild, all ending in a good evening of entertainment, with the fans going home satisfied.

The first match between Jimmy Dowd, Omaha, and Jerome Zachary, Kansas City Negro, which went to a 30-minute draw, was an event filled with enough excitement to almost make the fans hoarse before the evening of wrestling got well under way.

In the second match between Warren, Columbus, Ohio, won the event after George Lippold, St. Joseph, was unable to return to the ring in the allotted time between falls. Lippold won the first fall with several forearm smashes to the Warren jaw followed with a smother. It took 12 minutes and 30 seconds. The second fall was won by Warren, who used a series of backbreakers against the corner of the ring, followed with a smother. It was in three minutes and 40 seconds.

Lippold requested more time over the bell ring for the third round and Warren refused to grant extra time. After the referee requested Warren to let Lippold have more time, he again refused, and the match was awarded to the Columbus villain.

The final event was a rough and tumble affair from start to finish. The first fall went to Frank Altman, Seattle, Wash., after a 13-minute and 25-second struggle with an airplane spin over sturdy Jack Bernard, Louisville, Ky. Bernard in the second period knocked Altman up, bouncing the wrestler off the ropes and smashing him in the face with his forearm to end the fall with a smother in 13 minutes and 15 seconds. When Bernard resorted to using a foreign object to rub Altman's eyes, the referee disqualified him and Altman was declared the winner.

The next wrestling event will be Thursday night, March 6.

Boudreau Predicts Red Sox Will Make Strong Contenders

SARASOTA, Fla. (P)—Although the Boston Red Sox have lost Bobby Doerr and are almost certain to lose Ted Williams, Manager Lou Boudreau predicts his team will be a strong pennant contender.

"Cleveland, New York, Boston and Chicago will fight it out for the flag," said the skipper. "There is little to choose among them, in my opinion. Chicago was the most improved club in our league last year and is going to get better. As a matter of fact, I think that everyone is going to get better, particularly the Browns. That Bill Veck is a smart one and Rogers Hornsby is no dummy."

How Boudreau figures the Red Sox to be better when the Red Sox failed to win the flag with such stars as Williams and Doerr on the squad last year, is difficult to understand. But the man is optimistic, at least outwardly.

"My main problem is to find replacements at second base and in the outfield," Lou pointed out. "Williams and Doerr were two of the steadiest and most reliable men over the years. Of course, the Yankees have lost Joe DiMaggio and Jerry Coleman, who like Ted, is going into the service again."

"Our infield situation can be solved by moving Johnny Pesky over from third base to second. Vern Stephens will be at short, of course. Young Jimmy Hatfield also will get a chance at second. If he can make the grade, then Pesky can stay at third."

"We have Don Lenhardt for left field when Ted leaves and possibly Billy Goodman, if he isn't needed in the infield. With Dom DiMaggio and Clyde Vollmer, we should have a pretty good outfield — although it goes without saying that we'll miss the big fellow.

"Our catching should be improved with Gus Niarhos behind the bat. He's a peppery, aggressive catcher with lots of life and I think he'll hit the ball for us. We obtained him from the White Sox and we also got Randy Gumpert to that club. Gumpert is a seasoned pitcher who has good stuff and should win for us."

"We can use additional reserve strength, of course. That's part of the reason for our rookie school. We definitely are trying to develop more young players. You see, we're not just looking for 1952. We are planning for the future. Our club is getting old and we must concentrate on replacements. I hope some of these up-and-coming kids will prove good enough to stick this year."

"I'm not going to stick my neck out and try to pick a winner at this early stage. An injury here or there, another star called up to service, and the picture can change overnight. It's possible that the team will be leveled off more equally this year and then we'll make the 1952 pennant race better balanced than any in a long, long time."

"I'm going to do what I can to install a winning spirit from the start and if we can avoid key injuries, the Red Sox will be in the race. You can count on that."

Maglie Inks Pact, Predicts 20 Wins For Giants In '52

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., Feb. 22.—(P)—Holdout Sal Maglie, wooed back into the New York Giant fold by club president Horace Stoneham at a reported salary of $36,000, predicts he will win 20 games this season.

Although pitcher Maglie's reported new salary is more than twice what he got for winning lead and never headed. Sal told a newsman at good this year.

"I think I can do as good this year as I can win 20. But I think I can win 20."

Maglie's salary in 1951 was $17,000. And for that sum he played a big part in the Giants' rush for the National league pennant they pulled down the hard way on Bobby Thomson's famed homer.

"The big, righthanded Maglie figured his services should be worth $40,000 to the Giants this season. The Giants figured that was a bit too high, even for a 20-game winner. They offered $33,000."

As Maglie put it last week, "There's a lot of room for a compromise between those figures."

It was a compromise that the Giants announced in Phoenix, Ariz., where they are training. Stoneham stepped into the picture yesterday for the first time, and coaxed him into signing.

Said Maglie about money. "I can't talk about money. They don't want me to do that. All I can say is we compromised pretty good."

"I'm leaving for camp Saturday and I'll be there Tuesday morning."

Yankees-Nats Discuss Trade Involving Six

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 22.—(P)—Center fielder Irv Noren of Washington may be headed for Joe DiMaggio's old job with the New York Yankees.

Owner Clark Griffith of Washington and vice-president George Weiss of the Yankees have discussed a deal in informal talks.

Weiss expects to get together with Griffith for another conference within the next day or so, probably at Orlando, Fla., the Senators' training base.

Griffith is not so anxious to trade Noren, a sweet left-handed swinger who can go and get them in center field. But he might go for the right kind of proposition.

The wires buzzed yesterday with a story from Orlando that Griffith might swap Noren and second baseman Cass Michaels to the Yankees for outfielder Jackie Jensen, infielder Billy Martin and an unnamed catcher and outfielder, possibly Ralph Houk and Archie Wingo.

Noren hit .279 and drove in 86 runs last season, his second in the majors. A former Dodger farmhand, the fleet flycatcher came from Hollywood of the Pacific Coast league for the 1950 season. Whether the Yanks land Noren or not, manager Casey Stengel will have his hands full deciding on a replacement for DiMaggio.

Jensen and Mickey Mantle are the leading candidates. Bob Cerv, a hot shot rookie from Kansas City, where he hit .344, probably will get a whack at the center field job, although Stengel has been trying him at first base at the Lake Wales, Fla., school.

Every spring the Yanks and Washington are reported on the verge of a deal. Once it was Walt Masterson who was going to be traded to the Yanks. Then it was first baseman Mickey Vernon. Now it's Noren.

Versailles Bows To Moose Cagers In 52-12 Battle

A good defense was the best offense for the Sedalia Moose club Thursday night as they scored a 52-43 cage triumph over Versailles, Bob Garrison was the only Versailles player to hit more than ten points as he tossed in 13 tallies.

While the Moose were holding down the losers' usually high scoring machine, Don Reynolds plunked in 14 points, to take top point honors for the Sedalians, followed by Muddy Michaels' ten.

The Moose took a three-point lead in the low-scoring first period, 9-6, and then increased the advantage to eight points at half-time, 26-18, as scoring action picked up.

In the third and fourth frames the two teams battled on even terms as the Moose held to their lead.

"I can't talk about money. They don't want me to do that. All I can say is we compromised pretty good."

"I'm leaving for camp Saturday and I'll be there Tuesday morning."

Germans Beat US Sled Team To Make Sweep

OSLO (P)—Germany's daring Andreas Ostler clinched an Olympic double today by capturing the four-man bobsled championship with two dazzling dashes down the snow-covered 1,500 meter Frognersseter chute.

The husky, nerveless 32-year-old Garmisch innkeeper followed up his two fine runs of yesterday with a pair of glittering descents that brought his heavily weighted oak and steel bobsled victory over San Benham's American team.

Winner of the two-man gold medal earlier in the games, Ostler shattered the meet record with a breath taking third whirl of 1:16.55 and went on to beat the Americans by 2.65 seconds.

The Germans, who picked the three heaviest men on their eight man squad to load up Ostler's sleek racer, were clocked in a total of 5:07.83 for the four runs. Benham, a 39-year old Olympic veteran from Lake Placid, was timed in 1:16.72 and 1:18.54 for a total time of 5:10.48. The Americans were seeking to retain the title won in 1948 by Frank Tyler's quartet.

America's No. 2 sled which narrowly escaped cracking up in two mishaps yesterday, finished ninth in the field of 15 with times of 1:19.49 and 1:21.09 for a total of 5:19.68. Swiss sleds annexed third and fourth places while Austria grabbed fifth and Sweden sixth.

By picking up five points in the event, the Americans edged up a little on the pace setting Norwegians in the team standings. Uncle Sam now has 78½ points compared to the host country's 101. Third place Austria gained two points for a total of 38.

Snow started to fall as the bobsleds made their first runs down the icy culvert and by the time the second runs started the snowfall was thick, slowing the course.

Ostler, leading by 79 of a second after the first day, had increased his margin to nearly a full second (.96 of a second) with his record run. The Americans kept up their faint hopes with their 1:16.72 third heat, second best of the games.

The weight, as well as Ostler's dare-devil driving, paid off for the winners. The beefy Teutons' times for the first half of the runs but they picked up tremendous momentum midway in their descents and there was no stopping them. The course runs 120 yards less than a mile.

They leaned into the yawning curves and zipped down the white culvert, their steel runners singing as they swept past the spectators in breath-taking surges. At their peak, the Germans hit close to 80 miles an hour.

Snead, MacKinnon Win In International Meet After a Poor Start

ORLANDO, Fla. (P)—Sam Snead and Betty MacKinnon faced trouble on the fourth hole in the International Mixed Two-Ball Golf Tourney yesterday, but took the next five straight to eliminate Bernie Powers and Mrs. Joseph Miller, 6 and 5.

Mrs. Mildred Babe Zaharias and Al Beeselin also got in trouble but managed to win over Peggy Kirk and Carl Dann 1-up.

Mary Lena Faulk of Thomasville, Ga., and her 17-year-old partner, Don Bisplinghoff of Orlando, pulled the upset of the day by defeating Louise Suggs and Toney Penna 3 and 2. Penna and Miss Suggs were co-champions of the match two years ago.

Gen. Mac Not Supporting Ike as Pres.

By the Associated Press
Gen. Douglas MacArthur is on record today that he does not support Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower "for political office."

And, he said in a statement issued in New York last night, he has no "personal hatred of President Truman."

"I have no personal feelings whatsoever with reference to him," he said.

The statement followed publication by Newsweek magazine of an article that said MacArthur favored Ohio Sen. Robert A. Taft for the GOP presidential nomination but would support Harold E. Stassen or Eisenhower if either beats Taft.

MacArthur said "headlines, captions and advertisements which can hardly be regarded as supported by the body of the article itself, tend to create the impression that I am favorable to the nomination of Gen. Eisenhower as the Republican candidate for the Presidency and that I have a personal hatred of President Truman. MacArthur said this was "erroneous speculation." He said he has a warm personal feeling for Eisenhower, but:

No Knowledge of Beliefs
"I do not support his candidacy for political office as I have no slightest knowledge of his political beliefs or his views on many grave issues which now confront our nation."

The New York Daily News said it learned on "unimpeachable authority" that Eisenhower backers had mapped out a new strategy to get their man home from Europe well before the July GOP convention: Get the Senate foreign relations committee to invite him to Washington next month to testify before Congress.

The paper said its information was that Sen. Lodge (R-Mass.), the general's campaign manager would seek the invitation and predicted, "Democrats will not oppose it."

Not Inviting Ike Home
This touched off another denial. Lodge said in Beverly, Mass., that he planned to make no such motion, and "any report to the contrary is complete fabrication." Lodge said the Eisenhower-for-President forces "are doing very well as we are, with our man 3,000 miles away."

In Washington, however, Sen. Hendrickson (R-NJ) disagreed. Hendrickson often backs Taft's Senate leadership, but he said he believes Taft is gaining and Eisenhower is "slipping" in the presidential race.

He said Eisenhower's continued silence is hurting the general's chances.

Taft in Hot Debate
Taft himself was far from silent last night. Appearing on a New York television program with Tex McCrary, an Eisenhower backer, the Ohio senator engaged in a hot, arm-waving dispute that touched off an audience reaction which almost stopped the show.

McCrary, columnist and radio-TV commentator, said Taft hadn't told the truth when he said in his book, "A Foreign Policy for Americans," that President Truman did not confer with Congress on the Korean war until weeks after it started.

McCrary said Truman talked with nine Democrats and five Republicans in Congress 61 hours after the outbreak of hostilities. Taft snapped that his own statement was right because "14 senators are not the Senate of the United States."

Audience Boos and Cheers
The audience broke into boos and cheers.

Taft added that McCrary had called him a liar and demanded that he withdraw the statement. The audience became so noisy at this point a request had to be made for quiet.

Stassen, addressing the New York Republican club in New York City, ripped into government corruption, asked Congress to look into the source of Atty. Gen. McGrath's "accumulated wealth," and said he felt Taft had the "poorest chance" of all Republicans to win the nomination.

Thanks Stassen for Compliment
Asked about Stassen's reference to unconfirmed rumors that McGrath had become a millionaire while in public office, the attorney general said he "has no desire and there is no necessity to comment beyond thanking Candidate Stassen for the compliment."

Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, the lone Democrat to announce for the presidential nomination to date, criticized the "anti-semitic mentality" of the Republican party in general and "McCarthyism" in particular in an address at Warren, Ohio.

And former Rep. William C. Cole, campaigning for Missouri's GOP nomination for Congress, proposed a new investigation.

If elected, he promised a GOP women's meeting at St. Joseph yesterday, he wouldn't stop at just checking on grain and such short-ages. He would demand an in-

Norton Heffernan Elected To Head S&C Conference

Four hundred interested farmers attended the 1952 Soils and Crops conference in Convention Hall here in Sedalia Feb. 16th. At this meeting, Pettis county farmers participated in a program dealing with the current problems of soils and field crops.

Jim Harvey, chairman of the county committee of the P.M.A., explained the 1952 P.M.A. program to the group.

A panel of farmers, who had successful experiences with improved permanent pastures, were introduced. John Ryan, Elmer Curtis, Frank Wiskur and Elmer Botts were on the panel with Roy Coplen and Merle Vaughan directing the discussion.

John Ryan gave his experience with fescue and ladino pasture. John seeded 15 acres in the spring of 1950. "Thirty-two head of beef steers stayed on the 15 acres of improved pasture practically all of the time," Ryan said. "It looks good enough that I'm planning on seeding 60 acres more."

Elmer Curtis reported especially good results with Reed's canary grass. Elmer seeded the grass on about six acres in the Muddy Creek bottom. "The creek would go over that piece of land about twice a year and kill about one acre I put on it," said Elmer. "I seeded Reed canary grass on this six acres in the spring of 1950. Last spring during the high water, this grass was under water for five days and wasn't hurt much. Some of the grass was covered with silt and came on up to make a good growth. It looks as though this grass had a definite place on some of this overflow land here in the county," says Curtis.

Frank Wiskur told the experience that he and his brothers had with fescue, timothy, and ladino on the Dyer-Wiskur farm.

A report on Henry Alt's orchard grass, timothy and ladino pasture was given by Jim Perry. Henry had seeded 15 acres in the spring of 1950. During 1950 he used this for night pasture for 23 head of dairy cows up to Oct. 1. April 15, 1951 he turned 27 head of cattle on the pasture. The cattle pastured this field day and night until May 15. And from then until Oct. 31 for night pasture. Henry claims that this five acres has produced more feed this year than it ever had in hay, pasture or grain in any previous year.

John Tolson of Houstonia reported on the seeding of 40 acres of fescue, timothy and ladino. "This improved pasture has provided a lot of feed and I am planning on seeding about 70 acres more," said Tolson.

A report on the organization of a 4-H Club 100 bushel corn club was given by Jim Perry. The 4-H members participating are Burton Cook, Gail Demand, C. H. Williams, R. D. Kahrs, Harold Lee Nicholson, Jim Conway, Bill Ficken, Jody Reine, Jimmy Goss, Orlyn Brauer, Howard Brown and Clinton Reid. These boys are testing their soil and adding the necessary fertility as well as using other good practices in an attempt to reach this 100 bushel goal.

"Soil fertility is becoming more important every year," said A. W. Klemme, "as we try to produce food for a rapidly increasing population." Klemme is a well known Extension Soils Specialist of the Missouri College of Agriculture. Klemme pointed out that most Missouri soils are deficient in phosphate particularly while many are low on organic matter, potash, lime and magnesium. "To do a good job of crop production, you should first feed the soil by adding fertilizer according to soil test so that the soil can in turn feed the crop," stated Klemme. He also pointed out the importance of proper garden fertilization. "Our fruits and vegetables can not contain the minerals and vitamins necessary to good health and nutrition if these minerals are not in the soil," claimed Klemme.

A discussion on the strong and weak points of permanent pasture grasses and legumes was given by Roy I. Coplen, county agent. "To realize the most from an improved pasture, a thorough knowledge of each grass or legume's growth habits should be had," he claimed. "This is because each grass and legume have different growth characteristics and soil requirements that make it more valuable in one farm situation than in another. When the characteristics of each grass and legume is understood, more desirable a pasture program can be worked out for your farm."

George Fichter, chairman of the Soils and Crops committee, who presided at the meeting called for the report of the nominating committee. Norton Heffernan, chairman, Walter Nicholson, vice chairman, Bob Logan, secretary, and Lee Dow were nominated and elected.

US In Danger Of Losing Out In Indonesia

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States is in danger of "losing out," as some highly placed diplomats put it, in Indonesia—probably because it overplayed its hand there.

This country has sought to persuade the Indonesian government, which acts friendly but talks neutral, to stand up and be counted on the side of the western democracies in the struggle against communism.

It has, according to the best information available here, pressed the best of intentions but in such a way as to arouse the suspicions of a newly independent people.

These moves are regarded here as being at the root of the explosion in U.S.—Indonesian relations which occurred yesterday when Foreign Minister Achmed Soebardjo resigned after other cabinet members and much of the Indonesian Parliament refused to back his first step toward a military aid agreement with the United States.

Great importance is attached to the incident because the Indonesian republic holds a highly strategic position in the Far East, sitting out Australia and astride vital sea and air routes.

It is, moreover, about the richest of the Far Eastern territories in rubber, tin and oil. And it is a country which has gained independence from its former European masters and at the same time put down Communist forces which quickly arose to seize power in the new state.

The United States has been a friend and supporter of the fledgling nation since before it achieved its final independence in December, 1949. State department officials, and other government officials, therefore, are more than usually chagrined to find relations with Indonesia now in serious trouble.

The thing that precipitated Soebardjo's resignation was his negotiation of a statement with Ambassador Merle Cochran designed to qualify Indonesia to receive U.S. military assistance and to continue receiving economic aid. The foreign minister and the ambassador privately agreed on an exchange of letters in which Soebardjo sought to declare the solidarity of his country with the free nations of the world.

The Mutual Security Act passed by Congress last year required that to qualify for any kind of aid a foreign nation declare its stand with the democracies.

State department officials contend this makes trouble for the United States in all those lands where "neutrality" in the cold war is a popular political tenet.

Incomes Increase On Farms

1951 Earnings Set Mark But Fall Shy Of Non-Farm Average

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—(P)—The government reported today that people living on farms last year got record incomes, but still 40 per cent below the average of non-farm population.

The Agriculture Department said the income from all sources of persons living on farms averaged $1,000 in 1951 compared $1,707 for those living off farms. In 1930 the farm average was $829 and non-farm average $1,563.

Farm income included the value of food and other products produced and consumed on farms and the rental value of farm dwellings as well as income from people received from non-farm sources, such as business investments and the like.

Gross farm income in 1951 was reported at $37,404,000,000, the highest on record. Gross income includes money received from sale of farm products, government payments, the value of home consumption of farm products and the rental value of farm dwellings.

Net Income Less Than 1947

But net farm income—the amount left after paying production expenses—was reported at only $14,929,000,000—or about two billion dollars less than the record set in 1947.

Gross farm income was $32,732,000,000 in 1950 and net income $12,708,000,000.

The department said net income failed to keep pace with gross income because production expenses increased more than did prices farmers received for their crops and livestock.

Production expenses were reported at $22,475,000,000 last year compared with $20,024,000,000 in 1950.

In terms of purchasing powers, farmers' realized net income in 1951 was 8 per cent above 1950 and about the same as in 1949, but 23 per cent less than in 1947 and lower than in any year from 1942 through 1948, the department said.

Non-Farm Income A Record

The income of the non-farm population last year has been reported at a record of $22,688,000,000 compared with $19,204,000,000 in 1950.

Cash receipts from farm marketings in 1950 and 1951, respectively, by states included:

Missouri $1,034,552,000 and $1,212,799,000; Kansas $1,028,521,000 and $1,035,914,000; Arkansas $512,098,000 and $584,519,000; Oklahoma $564,597,000 and $618,762,000.

Accident Cuts Power Circuit

Serving Topeka

TOPEKA, Kas., Feb. 21.—(P)—An accident in the Kansas Power and Light Company's nearby Tecumseh plant critically injured one employee today and shut off power in this capital city of 103,000 population for more than an hour.

Floyd Beem, 46, was burned over three fourths of his body in the accident which set off a huge flash of fire described by a witness as "about 15 feet in diameter."

The flash caused nearby residents to fear that another explosion had occurred in the plant where nine persons were killed and 16 injured by a blast on Dec. 9, 1948.

Company officials said, however, there was no explosion this time.

They said Beem had gone to clean a switch at an outside substation and contacted the wrong switch.

He came in contact with a power line carrying 13,000 volts which knocked him from his ladder and set his clothing afire, they said.

Another employee, Herbert Mize, who said he was standing about 30 feet away and saw the huge flash, threw his coat over Beem's flaming body.

Other workers also rushed to the scene and threw their coats over Beem.

The accident occurred at 4:21 p.m. It set fire to the station which burned about two minutes until all power was turned off.

President Changes His Tune; He Admits He Likes His Job

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—(P)—President Truman openly acknowledged today that while the job of being President is a tough one, "I like it."

He made the remark, in a sudden offhand way, during the course of a chatty talk to a group of some 500 fellow-Masons at a hotel breakfast.

Speaking in the informal style he uses at such occasions, as though he were talking to a group of friends at a Missouri corner store, Truman said his is "an all-day and nearly all-night job."

Then he added: " . . . and just between you and me and the gatepost, I like it."

Laughter spread among the guests, gathered for the annual breakfast given for the President by Frank Land, Kansas City Masonic leader and founder of the DeMolay organization.

Enemies Soon May Love Him

The President also spoke, as he has done before, of the "abuse" which all presidents must suffer. He said he hopes that he, like Cleveland, will eventually be loved for the enemies he has made.

His remark about liking the job was somewhat at variance with what Truman usually tells callers and friends. He has often termed the White House "the big white jail."

Rep. Sabath (D-Ill.), after a recent White House call, quoted Truman as saying the President is "a killing job" and that he knows another term might shorten his life.

There wasn't much that appeared to be politically significant in what the President told the Masons.

"When a man has to work 17 hours a day, there isn't much chance of his getting into devilment," he said at one point, "and that for that reason you all wonder why I can be gay and healthy after all the bricks and stones and mud and things that are thrown my way."

He Feels He Helps Nation

"It is because I work all the time, and because I think I am doing something to help the people of this nation to live better than they otherwise would live, and also because the efforts that are now being put forth are in the hope that eventually we will have a peaceful world."

Truman didn't elaborate on why he likes his White House job. For all its burdens, the post has its attractive aspects. To begin with, there is the salary of $100,000 a year, plus $50,000 tax-free expense allowance.

Then there is the White House, limousines, a personal plane, and the presidential yacht, the U.S.S. Williamsburg, which he boarded today for a cruise on Potomac river and Chesapeake Bay waters. He will return to Washington Saturday morning.

There is also the fact that he is the most famous Hereford bull of all time is now the herd sire of the Oakdale farm located north of Sedalia.

The bull, CMR Advance Domino 132nd sired by Advance Domino, was purchased by Oakdale owner, T. W. Cloney II, at the 11th annual sale of the Circle M. ranch held last Monday at Senatobia, Miss.

Two world records were established at the sale—30 polled individuals were sold of an average in excess of $5,000 each and 19 bulls averaged $7,508.

Widow Held In Slaying Of Mountain Grove Man

MOUNTAIN GROVE, Mo., Feb. 21.—(P)—A 28-year-old sawmill worker identified as Eugene Harris was shot to death in a Mountain Grove cafe today and the man's 21-year-old widow was being held in connection with the slaying, prosecuting Attorney B. L. Moody reported.

The prosecutor said Harris was shot in the back three times with an automatic pistol. No charges have been filed against the widow, Patricia Harris.

Moody said the couple had been arguing before the shooting.

Red Intentions Now Plign To World Says Ridgway

TOKYO, Friday, Feb. 22.—(P)—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway declared last night that "the pattern of Communist intentions" was now spread across the world "where even the blind can see."

The United Nations military commander spoke at a dinner of the Far East Department of the Reserve Officers Association.

The general quoted George Washington as having written in 1775 that one of his hardest jobs was to induce people to believe there was danger "until the bayonet is pushed at their breasts."

The same situation exists today, Ridgway said.

English Housewives Won First Two

LIBERAL, Kas., Feb. 21.—(P)—Feminine flapjacks flipped of Liberal go into their third Shrove Tuesday pancake race against the housewives of Olney, England, Feb. 26, still in the dark on what the powers behind the iron curtain think of the whole thing.

Last month, Mrs. Jack Cox of Liberal sent a letter to "Mrs. Joseph Stalin" suggesting that Russia join in the pancake racing fun as a means of bettering international relations.

A few days later, Olney's Vicar, the Rev. R. W. Collins, sent the Kremlin two photographs of last year's race and a letter on what the race could do to help ease world tension.

Mrs. Cox has received a lot of fan mail—but not a word from the Kremlin. Some of the writers agreed with her, but there were others who disagreed—wholeheartedly.

But it's still going to be a merry old race.

Course 415-Yards Long

The girls here are practicing diligently on the art of dashing over a 415-yard S-shaped course, carrying skillet and flipping pancakes into the air. The contestants here must flip the cakes two times and catch them in the skillet—once at the start's order of "toss your pancakes" and again as they cross the finishing line.

In fact, the practice has cooked up such enthusiasm that police thought they had an odd crime on their hands the other night. Getting a call that someone was at-

Oakdale Farm Buys Prize Hereford Bull

A direct descendant of one of the most famous Hereford bulls of all time is now the herd sire of the Oakdale farm located north of Sedalia.

The bull, CMR Advance Domino 132nd sired by Advance Domino, was purchased by Oakdale owner, T. W. Cloney II, at the 11th annual sale of the Circle M. ranch held last Monday at Senatobia, Miss.

Two world records were established at the sale—30 polled individuals were sold of an average in excess of $5,000 each and 19 bulls averaged $7,508.

CIO Switches Strike Date To March 23

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 21.—(P)—The CIO United Steelworkers today lifted the threat of a nationwide strike Saturday midnight but set a new deadline of March 23.

President Philip Murray of both the CIO and USW told a news conference the big union's wage policy committee authorized him to "call a strike in the steel industry at any time after March 23, 1952, in the event a fair basis for dispute is not forthcoming by that date."

The union's demands for an 18½ cent hourly wage increase and other contract concessions are now before the Wage Stabilization Board for recommended settlement. The board is not expected to report on any suggested settlement for at least 10 days to two weeks.

The union had set a strike deadline for Saturday midnight. The wage policy committee was called into session to decide whether to obey that deadline or postpone it pending WSB action.

Murray said the 170-member wage policy committee adopted a resolution which protested "the delay in the settlement of this dispute resulting from the filibustering of the steel companies."

The resolution also repeated a union demand that any final settlement shall be retroactive to Jan. 1, when the union's contract with all major steel producing companies expired.

The resolution also declared: "We call upon the Wage Stabilization Board promptly to make its recommendations for fair and equitable terms of settlement of this dispute and to enable the board to do this, we extend the present postponement of our strike until midnight, March 23."

"We hope that a strike may be averted but the patience of our members is running out."

Government Eases Civilian Controls

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—(P)—The government today took steps toward easing of controls on three civilian fronts.

The National Production Authority:

1. Approved construction of 645 churches, fire and police stations, orphanages, homes for the aged, jails, boys clubs, community buildings and civic centers across the country.

2. Withdrew its proposed limitation of 1½ bathrooms in each new house.

3. Promised to consider "immediately" a proposal that more aluminum be provided for civilian goods.

Blood Donors Again Exceed Quota In Callaway County

FULTON, Mo., Feb. 21.—(P)—For the second time in three months, Callaway county has exceeded its Red Cross blood donor quota.

Residents of the county contributed 550 pints of blood during a three day period this week. This was 25 pints over the quota set.

Last November the county exceeded its quota by 12 points.

Nehru's Party Sweeps Long India Election

NEW DELHI, India, Feb. 21.—(P)—India's marathon elections that began last October, ended today. The Congress party of Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru won an overwhelming victory, capturing 341 out of 496 seats in the central Parliament.

Sen. Lodge Enters Ike In Oregon

Primary To Pledge 18 GOP Delegates To Top Candidate

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—(P)—The name of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower was entered in Oregon's Republican presidential primary today, assuring a test of strength with Gen. Douglas MacArthur and possibly four others.

The filing was authorized by Senator Lodge (R-Mass.) in his capacity as national campaign manager of the Eisenhower-for-President organization.

The Oregon primary will be held May 16. The 18 delegates to the GOP national convention to be elected there will be bound to support the winner of the preference contest and to use their best efforts to bring about his nomination.

Lodge's word apparently was all that was needed to start the Oregon machinery for Eisenhower. A few hours later the general's name was filed on a petition bearing 1,068 signatures, 68 more than the required 1,000.

MacArthur Already Entered

MacArthur's name previously had been filed. Before the March 7 deadline is reached other entries are expected. Petitions are being circulated for Senator Taft, Gov. Warren, Harold Stassen, and Senator Morse.

The Oregon primary is next to the last important one before the national conventions in July. Although the state's delegate strength comparatively small, it has always been considered an important pre-convention battleground.

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, who got off to a slow start in the 1948 primaries, won a decisive victory over Stassen in Oregon that year and went on to win the presidential nomination.

One unusual feature about the Oregon law is that once a candidate's name is filed by petition he cannot withdraw. MacArthur, who has withdrawn from other primaries, thus is prevented from doing so in the northwest state.

Taft forces have said the petitions being circulated for him are without the Ohio Senator's blessing. They have said in fact that they consider the move an "unfriendly act" on the part of friends of Senator Morse of Oregon, an Eisenhower supporter.

Morse Again Rips Taft

Only today, Morse took another swing at Taft. He told newsmen that Taft's election as President would "defeat the foreign policy for which Gen. Eisenhower stands."

With Taft as President, Morse said, it would be "impossible to carry out our obligations in Europe under the North Atlantic treaty."

Senator Brewster (R-Mo.), a Taft supporter, said in another interview there was no justification for Morse's remarks. He said Taft has made it clear that as President "he would carry out our commitments under the North Atlantic pact."

The stepping out of the Eisenhower line Oregon coincided with a news conference statement at Trenton by Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll (R) indicating an endorsement of the general.

Grain Prices End-Up In Mixed-Up Manner

CHICAGO, Feb. 21.—(P)—Grains ended mixed on the Board of Trade today.

Wheat closed ½ lower to ¾ higher, corn unchanged to ¼ lower, oats ¼ to ¾ cent higher, rye ¾ to 1½ cent higher, and soybeans ¾ to 1½ cent higher.

A continued heavy run of hogs into mid-western terminals, acted as a drag on corn, which was weaker than other cereals. Aside from meaning less hogs to consume corn on farms, the hog price slump does nothing to improve the already poor corn-hog ratio. Country points again offered cash corn in liberal volume, bookings being placed at 95,000 bushels. The cash market was unchanged to 2 cents lower.

Even a pessimistic report on the Argentine corn crop by Broomhall, international grain authority, could not rally the yellow cereal.

When was a two-way market with the old crop months going down while the 1952 crop months went up. India bought four cargoes of Pacific coast wheat and some trade circles believed Chile had taken some hard wheat, although no one knew how much. Any export business had very little influence on prices.

Truck Kills Horse; Drunk Rider Fined

CHRISTOPHER, Ill., Feb. 21.—(P)—A horse and rider were struck by a truckload of pigs in Christopher last night. The horse was killed and the rider was fined $15 for being drunk.

The trucker did not see the horseman in time—State Patrolman Russell Birkner quoted him as saying—"Because it didn't have a tail light."

70 Persons Die In Riot Near Pusan

PUSAN, Korea, Friday, Feb. 22.—(P)—One American soldier and 69 Korean civilian internees were killed Monday in a Communist-attacked riot at a Koje Island Stockade, U. S. authorities said today.

The authorities said about 1,500 civilian inmates of the compound attacked U. S. security troops with steel pickets, wooden clubs, barbed wire flails, black jacks, metal tent pole spikes, iron pipe, rocks and knives.

No Progress On Item 3

In the shadow of the debate over Russia, no progress was made in the talks on item three—super-visibility of a truce.

The Communists held firm to their figure of a maximum of 30,000 troops to be rotated by each side monthly. The Allies have scaled down their figure to 35,000 and seem unwilling to compromise further.

The two sides also wrangled over Allied insistence on seven points of entry for each side to handle supplies. The Communists want to cut the number to four ports. The real issue here is that entry ports would be inspected. The Reds want to limit inspection.

The major issue before them, however, is Allied insistence on a ban on rebuilding airports in North Korea. This issue has been bypassed temporarily.

St. Louis Judge Opposes Church-Sponsored Bingo

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 21.—(P)—Circuit Judge Francis E. Williams suggested today that churches which sponsor lotto, bingo and such "close their training schools for gambling."

He said in attacking St. Louis county's so-called "carnival code" that "the underworld cannot be adequately reformed until the underworld is able to reform itself."

And he added that a good place to start would be with "pro-gambling churches," charities and veterans' groups.

Storm Stalls Canadian Train; 44 Persons Await Snow-Plows

STE. THERESE, Que., Feb. 21.—(P)—Snow-plows and hand shovellers were inching forward tonight to the relief of 44 persons marooned for four days and nights by a blizzard that stalled their train. Some have lived off the country-side since the train was stalled Monday.

A rotary snow plow cut through huge snowbanks and drifts to clear the track to Gaspe Village, 45 miles from the passenger train. It is marooned on a single-track on the southeast coast of Gaspe Peninsula.

Rhineland, Rockport Allotted Additional Federal Flood Aid

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 21.—(P)—Two Missouri towns—Rhineland and Rockport—were allotted additional federal emergency flood relief funds today.

Rhineland will receive $249.50 and Rockport will get $468.22. Gov. Forrest Smith announced the allocations. He said this brings the number of projects to 161 since last summer's disastrous flood.

The total amount allotted to date is $2,099,603.

Governor To Ask Legislature To Reconsider Redistricting

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 21.—(P)—Gov. Forrest Smith said today he would ask the legislature to have another look at congressional redistricting.

He said he would not sign a pending redistricting bill until the legislature comes back next week. Then, he said, he would try to find out if there was any chance the legislators could pass a different bill, redistricting the state so both parties would be satisfied.

The Republicans have called the bill a "monstrous gerrymander." They are circulating petitions now, trying to get the bill referred to a popular vote. That would force all candidates for Congress to run at large this year.

Smith Opposes At-Large Vote

Smith said he told Congressman O. K. Armstrong, Springfield, Mo., that he would not support the measure unless he did not want an at-large election, either.

The governor told his news con-

Allied Radio Blames Moscow

Enemy Demand Ties Korea Truce Talks In Tight Deadlock

MUNSAN, Korea, Friday, Feb. 22.—(P)—Communist insistence on Russia as a "neutral" inspector tightened the Korean truce talk deadlock Thursday, and an Allied broadcast laid the blame on Moscow.

In the gloomy atmosphere of fresh stalemates, staff officers agreed to return to the conference tents of Panmunjom at 11 a. m. (8 p. m., Thursday, CST) to try again.

The United Nations staff officers for the first time Thursday told the Communists why Russia was unacceptable as one of six neutral nations which would provide teams for supervising an armistice.

It was Russia's "record of past participation" in Korea. While this was not elaborated, it was obviously a reference to Russia's arming of the North Koreans for the war and its supply of guns, tanks and planes which has been flowing into the conflict.

Communist staff officers in reply argued that Russia was for peace and that the U. N. command position was without logic.

US Demand Soviet Action

The radio voice of the U. N. command took up the cudgel, belaboring the Kremlin and insisting that Russia itself injected the issue into the already floundering negotiations.

An information bulletin summarizing the broadcasts declared: " . . . It must be realized that in addition to the two major (armistice) problems left unsolved—airfields and voluntary repatriation (of war prisoners)—a new one has been added: The nomination of Russia as a neutral member of the supervisory teams."

"So the cycle will continue. Every step forward will be followed by a step backward until Moscow is convinced that the final decision for Korea must be made without further delay."

Communist staff officers accused the Allies of placing a stumbling block in the path of an armistice by black-balling Russia.

"I agree that the Soviet Union was a stumbling block," Col. Don O. Darrow, Allied staff officer, told newsmen "and I suggested they remove it."

Farm Bureau's Chief Gives Election View

"Being in politics has a much broader meaning than is running for a political office. When we, as citizens of this country, exercise our full civic responsibility, we are in politics," H. E. Slusher, president of the Missouri Farm Bureau Federation told a session of the National Farm Institute Feb. 16 at Des Moines, Iowa.

The National Farm Institute, sponsored by the Des Moines Chamber of Commerce in cooperation with farm organizations, is held annually to provide for thorough, objective, and open discussion of major problems affecting American agriculture, and therefore, the nation as a whole. This year's theme was "Food and the Future."

Continuing his address on "The Farmer in Politics," Slusher said, "As a group, farmers have had in the past greater representation in Congress than their numbers have justified. This has been of distinct value in preserving the general welfare of the nation. The farmer is less inclined to be influenced by emotional appeals than labor groups. They are less likely to be incited to mob action than any other group."

Speaking of civic responsibility, Slusher emphasized the increasing difficulty of citizens to act intelligently because of the growing complexity of government. But, he added, it is not only the citizen who is confused. "With a budget request by the President for $5 billion dollars, it is utterly impossible for the Congress to act intelligently upon the need for such astronomical amounts of money."

However, both Congressmen and farmers can determine that an $5 billion dollar expense budget can't be balanced with a $5 billion dollar tax income, Slusher explained. Furthermore, he can determine that the $5 billion dollar difference means that the constitutional debt limit will be exceeded some eight to 10 billion dollars, and that the $5 billion excess spending will be added to the inflation spiral with a resulting further decrease in the value of the dollar. "Farmers do not need to be told that such a program will mean eventual ruin for a farmer, for the United States, and the capitalist system under which we operate," he asserted.

Summarizing the current thinking of the farmer, Slusher said, "The farmer recognizes that Russia is a threat to our way of life, and that certain preparations must be made, certain sums of money spent for defense, if we are to escape another world war. He accepts this as inevitable. He does not accept as inevitable the carrying on of our government's carrying on, as outlined in the President's budget message, federal expenditures in the form of payments for which there is no work done, an expanded unemployment insurance program through the raising of benefits and the extension of coverage, insurance for special groups, compulsory health insurance, federal aid in education, government-sponsored low-rent public housing, the Brannan farm plan, the cost of all of which would amount to many, many billions of dollars. I am not sure that the farmer accepts as inevitable, or at all necessary, a $7 billion dollar military appropriation. Preparedness, yes, but not full-scale war preparation, does he accept. He believes there should be a balance between defense spending and civilian spending. Beyond this point he believes we should not go, if we are to avoid the trap (economic ruin) which the Russian leaders have set up for us."

"Another question which has been raised in the mind of the farmer, and which can and may be answered politically, is the extent to which nearly all government agencies propagandize the need for their services. Facts, the farmer welcomes. Theories should have no place in the Department of Agriculture's presentation. The millions of dollars spent in this type of presentation are huge and alarming. The farmer is almost helpless in the face of such a propaganda machine."

How then, in such a system, Slusher asked, is the farmer to function satisfactorily in politics? He answered this by saying, "Organization is accepted by farmers as a very necessary tool if they are to be effective in politics. When that tool is destroyed by act of government either directly or indirectly, then the farmer will no longer be in politics; he then becomes the servant of the government and the government no longer the servant of the people."

"The farmer is in politics, and the responsibility is greater than at any time since 1776," Slusher said in conclusion. "There are signs that he is going to assume that responsibility more seriously than in times past. He realizes that it may be later than he thought."

Pfc. Virgil Schupp Helps Set Record for Killing Commies

Pfc. Virgil Schupp of Pleasant Green, whose wife resides in Sedalia, is a member of a machine gun crew in Korea which is believed to have set a record for killing Communists per rounds of ammunition expended.

In nine rounds fired, the three-man crew dropped five Reds. The range was about 800 yards. The crew was from L. Company, 32nd Infantry Regiment and was using a 50 caliber machine gun. When they saw the enemy soldiers running on a hill-top they asked permission to snipe at them. A five round burst dropped three of five Commies spotted. Then another group of five was seen and four more rounds were fired, two more Reds dropping from that fire.

Pfc. Schupp entered the Army in May 1951 and received his basic training at Ft. Riley, Kas. He has been in Korea four months. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Schupp, Pleasant Green, and his wife, the former Neva Eirls, resides at 1104 South Massachusetts, Sedalia. Other members of the gun crew are: Pfc. Mrs. Holbrook Has Old Newspaper Giving Account of Assassination of Pres. Lincoln

It is an old, tattered and yellow paper that Mrs. C. S. Holbrook, 605 West Broadway brought to the Democrat-Capitol office—a copy of the New York Herald published on Saturday April 15, 1865.

The first word in the headline of the lead column is "Important" and beneath the black letters of the word in a little smaller type is "Assassination of President Lincoln." The next two headlines read: "The President Shot at the Theatre Last Evening."

The headlines continued: "Secretary Seward Dagged in His Bed But Not Mortally Wounded." Still more headlines: "Clarence and Frederick Seward Badly Hurt"; "Escape of Assassins"; "Intense Excitement in Washington"; "Scene at the Death Bed of Mr. Lincoln"; "J. Wilkes Booth, the Actor, Alleged Assassin of the President."

So read the half column of headlines in the New York Herald on April 15, 1865.

And there is a story back of the paper, too. Mrs. R. V. Bigger, wife of Dr. Bigger of Kansas City, Kas., both long dead, had the paper. She was a great admirer of Lincoln, a personal friend, and attended his funeral. She was very grieved over his death and the New York Herald, with its account of the president's assassination, was something that meant much to her.

She lived in New York at the time of the assassination and later moved to Chicago.

In 1871 the great Chicago fire swept over the city, destroying many houses and leaving many homeless. Among the houses in the path of the fire was that of Mrs. Bigger and in her excitement, she remembered that the one thing she must save was the New York Herald with the account of Lincoln's death. And so she did. Few of her other belongings were saved, but she did save the paper.

In 1877, Dr. and Mrs. Bigger moved to Kansas City, Kas., and it was there that she became friends with the family of which Mrs. Holbrook was a member. "Whether we adopted the dear old lady or whether she adopted us, I don't know," said Mrs. Holbrook. "But, however it was, she became very close to our family."

"When anything happens to me," Mrs. Bigger told Mrs. Holbrook, "I want you to have this little table," and she pointed to a very lovely old table. A short time later, the old lady had another thought—why shouldn't she just give the table to her at once—and that was what she did.

The drawer of the little table was the precious newspaper which told of the assassination of President Lincoln. Yes, she knew it was in there—but she wanted to give it to someone she knew would keep it—and she did. For it stayed right in the drawer of the little table. Not long ago Mrs.

Enjoy Chili Supper

A chili supper was enjoyed by members of the South Abell 4-H club at their meeting Feb. 7. Project leaders were elected during the business session. A discussion on window displays for 4-H club week was held.

Holbrook found it, just where the old lady had put it many years ago, still in the drawer of the little table.

The printing on the paper is very small and in some places blurred. Between each column is a wide black line.

From The New York Herald came this article:

"War Department

"Washington, April 15, 1:30 a.m.

"Major General Dix, New York:

"This evening at about 9:30 p.m. at Ford's Theatre the President, while sitting in his private box with Mrs. Lincoln, Mrs. Harris and Major Hathorn, was shot by an assassin who suddenly entered the box and approached behind the President.

"The assassin then leaped upon the stage, brandishing a large dagger or knife, and made his escape by the rear of the theatre. "The pistol shell entered the back of the President's head and penetrated nearly through the head. The wound is mortal.

"The President has been insensible ever since it was inflicted and is now dying.

"About the same hour an assassin, whether the same or not, entered Mr. Seward's apartments, and under pretense of having a prescription was shown to the Secretary's sick chamber. The assassin immediately rushed to the bed and inflicted two or three stabs on the throat.

"It is hoped the wounds may not be mortal. My apprehension is that they will prove fatal.

The nurse alarmed Mr. Frederick Seward, who was in an adjoining room, and he hastened to the door of his father's room, when he met the assassin, who inflicted upon him one of the more dangerous wounds. The recovery of Frederick Seward is doubtful.

"It is not probable that the President will live through the night.

"General Grant and wife were advertised to be at the theatre this evening.

"At a Cabinet meeting at which General Grant was present, the subject of the state of the country and the prospect of a speedy peace was discussed. The President was

Former Sedalian Catches Boy Trying Break-in

A former Sedalian, Oliver M. Gregg, 4300 Charlotte, Kansas City, figured in the news recently when he captured an 18-year-old youth who with a 16-year-old boy were endeavoring to break into his gun shop.

Gregg, a brother-in-law of Lyman Keuper, 1806 West Broadway explained his place of business, located at 4241 Troost, had been robbed several times in the past year and he had made it a habit to start checking before he retired. He would visit the shop late at night to see if everything was in order.

This particular night he drove around in the back and saw the two boys working on a lock. He obtained a pistol from the glove compartment of his car, jumped from the car and shot into the air several times. The younger of the two escaped while the older boy stopped. While waiting for the police to arrive the youth tried to escape, but a blow on the head stopped that.

Later the younger boy was caught after the older boy told police who his companion was. Gregg, when in Sedalia, operated a coffee roasting shop at Fifth and Ohio where the Pfeiffer Floral shop is now located. He resided at the old Y.M.C.A. He married Mr. Keuper's twin sister, Miss Myra Keuper, and they have since resided in Kansas City.

The Airman came to Offutt Air Force Base as a re-enlistee. He was previously in the U. S. Marine Corps.

Pfc. May is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence May, 405 North Quincy, Sedalia. The Airman is the husband of the former Patty Jean Wells of Sedalia.

She's a Former Sedalia—

Mrs. Hathaway's Marionettes Act In "Alice In Wonderland"

Mrs. Catherine Hathaway, formerly Miss Catherine Repper of Sedalia, has developed a fascinating hobby with marionettes for the cast of "Alice in Wonderland."

Mrs. Hathaway now resides in Topeka, Kas., where she is a homemaker, business woman and mother of two small boys, besides following her other interests, such as marionettes. Feature writer Dorothy G. Trueblood, of the Topeka State Journal, said Mrs. Hathaway needed a 26-hour day for her busy schedule.

It took all Catherine's spare time for six months to complete the cast. Her "spare time" is between the boys' bedtime and midnight.

The careful detail of each figure bears the mark of a professional. The Mock Turtle sheds tears; the Gryphon really looks like a cross between an eagle and a lion and Alice is made so she can grow tall or short, as in the story.

Inspiration for the costumes of the king and queen came from an ordinary deck of cards. The gleaming sequin eyes of all the characters make them more spirited. She also made properties and scenery for the play.

At one time she devoted many months to mastering the art of making rubber baby dolls. Business so good she found she'd either have to invest considerable capital and go into it commercially or abandon the project.

Catherine, her husband, Bill, and her father, the late H. C. Repper, spent many hours remodeling and refinishing antiques for their home. From this experience she later sold an article to a top decorating magazine.

Her first love, in crafts, has been ceramics. She has been working with clay, off and on, for years. Recently she has made some porcelain figurines, dainty ladies with ruffled lace dresses. Porcelain is made by a complicated firing process.

"Only within the last ten years did the potters accidentally stumble on the method of firing for the blue white color of old porcelain," Catherine said.

The secret of her ability to get so much done? "She really has several. A cooperative husband, her mother, Mrs. H. C. Repper, who lives with her and takes an active interest in her undertakings; and she isn't involved in organizations, not that she isn't willing to help a good cause."

She once gave a fashion show for a church benefit. "Alice in Wonderland" is for another community cause. She doesn't attend those monthly and semi-monthly meetings that nibble away at her time.

Interpreting The News

By J. M. ROBERTS JR.

The North Atlantic treaty organization opened its Lisbon meeting with emphasis on its defensive nature. With critical times ahead, during which Russia might strike out either in a "preventive" war or to try to drive through her objectives in Europe, it is finally too late, the obvious diplomatic desire is to impress her that she has no war to fear except one that she creates herself.

That has, of course, always been the case. But sometimes I wonder if the Allies don't stress it too much, with too much emphasis on their own unreadiness for war now.

The poor mouthout on about the state of preparedness can be carried too far. In one way it is necessary to show the need for the defense programs now being conducted. But it wouldn't do to make it a habit. Russia might believe it.

In my book, the Western reaction to Korea was a far more potent deterrent of general war than all the statements that we are arming for defense of the peace.

The realistic Kremlin might be more impressed if Acheson had emphasized what is the truth—that the West is ready enough to fight now if necessary, and that it certainly will do so if pushed.

The idea that Russia has some ground by taking the initiative, but she would at the same time call down her own punishment just as surely, if not just as swiftly, now as later.

Russia's maneuver has been talked into a Western bugaboo. The truth of the matter is that, properly organized, the West has the men, guns, butter and guts to take this only semi-modern enemy at any time. Russia doesn't have, and won't have for ten years, half the capacity of the United States to make the wheels of a modern war must be fought. She's lucky if she has one fifth of American steel production, not to mention that of Europe. She'd be lucky to start a war with one tenth of the number of American atom bombs or the ability to produce them.

During the latter days of the war with Japan the United States, seeking surrender, made it a point to let the enemy know in advance just which of his cities were going to be bombed next.

Instead of assuring Russia that, if she decides to make war she can have the initiative, the Allies might make more progress toward her surrender in the cold war by giving her a little clearer blueprint of the awful things they intended to do to her if she turns it hot.

Small Crowd Enjoys Bouts At The Armory

Friday, Feb. 22, being a legal holiday, all windows at the post office will be closed and there will be no delivery of mail by either city or rural carriers.

Special delivery mail will be delivered as usual and the regular holiday collections made from street letter boxes. All outgoing mail will be dispatched.

Always when a small crowd attends the wrestling matches, it seems the best shows develop. Thursday night was no exception when the wrestlers went wild, the fans went wild, and the sponsors went wild, all ending in a good evening of entertainment, with the fans going home satisfied.

The first match between Jimmy Dowd, Omaha, and Jerome Zachary, Kansas City Negro, which went to a 30-minute draw, was an event filled with enough excitement to almost make the fans hoarse before the evening of wrestling got well underway.

In the second event Neil Warren, Columbus, Ohio, won the event after George Lipplod, St. Joseph, was unable to return to the ring in the allotted time between falls. Lipplod won the first fall with several forearm smashes to the Warren jaw followed with a smother. It took 12 minutes and 30 seconds. The second fall was won by Warren who used a series of backbreakers against the corner of the ring, followed with a smother. It was in three minutes and 40 seconds.

Lipplod requested more time when the bell rang for the third period and Warren refused to grant extra time. After the referee requested Warren to let Lipplod have more time, he again refused, and the match was awarded to the Columbus villian.

The final event was a rough and tumble affair from start to finish. The first fall went to Frank Altman Seattle, Wash., after a rough 13 minutes and 25 seconds with an airplane spin over sturdy Jack Bernard, Louisville, Ky. Bernard in the second period roughed Altman up, and smashing him in the ropes with his forearm to end the fall with a smother in 13 minutes and 15 seconds. When Bernard resorted to using a foreign object to rub Altman's eyes, the referee disqualified him and Altman was declared the winner.

The next wrestling event will be Thursday night March 6.

Steelworkers Draw Up Plan to Delay Strike

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 21 — (AP) — Top officers of the CIO United Steelworkers drew up their decision today on postponing a nationwide steel strike Saturday night, but kept it secret pending ratification by the union's wage-policy committee.

Workers Draw Pay Before Going to Job

Senate Probing Secret Air Base Near North Pole

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 — (AP) — A Senate investigation heard today that workers on a super-secret air base construction program near the North Pole collected more than three million dollars in wages before even reaching the job.

Lt. Gen. Lewis A. Pick, chief of army engineers, defended these payments as well as salaries at a rate of $13,000 a year for laborers and $17,000 a year for mechanics on the project.

Questions by Downey Rice, counsel for the committee—which was set up as a watchdog group on military spending—brought out the salary figures.

Rice did not indicate how many workers shared the three million dollars, but said they drew pay while enroute to the job by ship and airplane. He said some of them left Norfolk, Va., by ship, expecting to be at the job in 15 days but actually were 42 days on the way.

The project was known by the code name of "Blue Jay"—previously publicized as being in Greenland.

Rice said this project and another air base construction job in North Africa, known by the code name of "Atlas," already involved expenditures of about 100 million dollars.

"I have received persistent confidential reports that you have become a millionaire during the years of your public office holding since your first inauguration as governor of Rhode Island.

Several Change Minds About Chinese Family

SOUTH SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 21 — (AP) — Some Southwestern residents have had a change of heart about the Sing Sheng family—the Chinese they told by a 174-28 vote they did not want as neighbors in the all-white residential district.

This group plans to meet Friday night to initiate a movement to persuade the neighbors to reverse its stand and invite the Shengs to move into the golf-course-bordering suburb.

The Shengs had made a down payment on a house there but gave it up after the anti-vote in last week's unofficial election.

Said Mrs. Warren Mooney: "I want to do more than change my mind. I want to persuade the other people in Southwood to change theirs.

"I'm glad the newspapers played this matter up the way they did. It wakes us up. It makes us realize that this kind of thing can happen in America without the people of America rising up against us."

Workers Draw Pay Before Going to Job

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 — (AP) — A Senate investigation heard today that workers on a super-secret air base construction program near the North Pole collected more than three million dollars in wages before even reaching the job.

Lt. Gen. Lewis A. Pick, chief of army engineers, defended these payments as well as salaries at a rate of $13,000 a year for laborers and $17,000 a year for mechanics on the project.

Questions by Downey Rice, counsel for the committee—which was set up as a watchdog group on military spending—brought out the salary figures.
